[redacted] should develop that 70,000 groups had been handled, we would want to know whether this was a result of a purely temporary emergency or whether a false estimate of [redacted] traffic had been made. to handle these quotas. Shortage of personnel may necessitate our cutting them in one of two ways: (a), the elimination of stations altogether (note that [redacted] is already eliminated), or (b), the reduction of traffic due to base station personnel shortages or the non-availability of personnel for the automatic equipment.

The quotas, however, will represent the traffic for which we will attempt to staff the net.
